Anti-Bating Tips

A Compendium of Activities for Enjoying the Romance of Loneliness.

Explore your town in new ways. Bring supplies such as snacks, books, journal, or a mug of wine. Bake yourself some cookies at odd hours of the night. Drink too much coffee and explore your local library. Try getting somewhere by using only alleys. Draw wallet-sized portraits of your ideal boys. Get dressed up and go to a nice restaraunt. Write love-letters to anonymous boys and post them on a bulletin board. Write really awful poetry. Re-read your favorite childhood book. Break something sentimental and glue it back together. Have a picnic in your bed. Ride the bus all day. Pick flowers for yourself. Eat well.

I guess my point is that if this bothers you enough to not speak to me again, just be glad it happened now.

I didn't even get to see
you before I left town:

I'm alternately taking turns
trying to spare you pain and be honest.

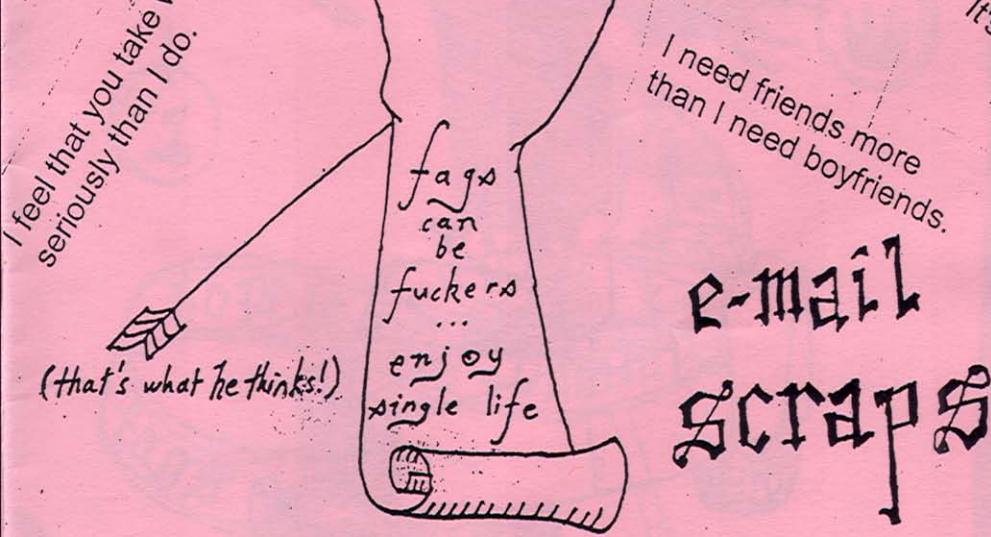

I feel that you take what we have going a lot more seriously than I do.

Do you totally hate me? You should, I'm a bad person.
But if you don't, let's still go see that John Waters movie soon.

It probably does you no good to hear that I really wish this could work out, but I really don't think it could. It's an old gay conundrum: we're both bottoms!

I am so sorry I haven't written in days.

I feel really crappy,
like I've led you on
